First Friday, August 4: Stutz Residency Artists' Exhibition and Stutz Artists Open Studio Night

The Stutz Artists Association presents "Real Surreal: The Work of Residency artists Sean Hurley and John Klinkose" on Friday, August 4 from 5-9 p.m. The exhibition takes place in the 2nd Floor Residency studios and hallways of the century-old former Stutz car factory where the 2017 Residency artists work. Now in its 21st year, the Stutz Residency provides studio space to one or two emerging artists from Central Indiana each year and this exhibition is a culmination of their program.

This year's Residents are both representational artists with very different styles. The exhibit features Sean Hurley's charcoal drawings and Intaglio prints of interiors including the nooks and crannies of the Stutz Business and Arts Center. Works by John Klinkose present figures in water, still life and portraiture painted in oil on canvas, board or Mylar. Some of his paintings have an odd surreal twist to them.

August 4 is also Stutz Artists Open Studio Night when more than 20 artists welcome visitors to their studios to see the studios where they create their art. Art ranges from painting, drawing, and jewelry to sculpture, photography and multimedia. Several artists will give demonstrations of their creative process. As part of the IDADA First Friday Art Tour, festivities include live music, food and beverage.

About the Stutz Residency Program

Through a competitive process, one or two Central Indiana emerging artists are selected and awarded free studio space and paid utilities in the Stutz Business and Arts Center for a year. Since its inaugural year in 1996, the Residency program has provided in-kind contributions valued at more than $150,000 to 31 local artists. The Stutz Residency is a program of the Stutz Artists Association and is funded by contributions and the Raymond James Stutz Artists Open House held annually in April.
